Saint Joseph of Leonissa (1556 - 1612)

Joseph was born at Leonissa in the Kingdom of Naples. As a boy and as a student in early adulthood, Joseph drew attention for his energy and virtue. Offered a nobleman's daughter in marriage, Joseph refused and joined the Capuchins in his hometown in 1573 instead. Avoiding the safe compromises by which people sometimes undercut the gospel, Joseph denied himself hearty meals and comfortable quarters as he prepared for ordination and a life of preaching.

In 1587, he went to Constantinople to take care of the Christian galley slaves working under Turkish masters. Imprisoned for this work, he was warned not to resume it on his release. He did and was again imprisoned and then condemned to death. Miraculously freed, he returned to Italy where he preached to the poor and reconciled feuding families as well as warring cities which had been at odds for years. He was canonized in 1745.

Reflection

Saints often jar us because they challenge our ideas about what we need for "the good life." "I'll be happy when. . .," we may say, wasting an incredible amount of time on the periphery of life. People like Joseph of Leonissa challenge us to face life courageously and get to the heart of it: life with God. Joseph was a compelling preacher because his life was as convincing as his words.

Choose to Speak Rather Than Remain Silent

Saint Cassian of Tangier models the ultimate

Christian act of brotherhood and friendship. His decision to speak up for what is right clearly left him standing alone in the courtroom and later on at his beheading. There were no groups or persons with him to support his choice. There were no character witnesses to speak up for this one who embraced the unpopular Christian faith. Except for the unconditional love of our redeemer, Cassian was alone. With the simple utterance of "I am a Christian," he was condemned. One might ask why he didn't remain quiet. In more contemporary times we have witnessed what can happen when men and women remain silent. The transatlantic slave trade, the Holocaust and, more recently, the genocides in Rwanda and Sudan are just a few cases of what happens in our world when silence is the acceptable mode of behavior. Throughout time many good men and women, among them Edmund Burke and Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr., have been quoted as saying, "All that is needed for evil to rise is for men of goodwill to remain silent."
